Dancing through Parkinson's in Japan

Invertigo Teaching Artist Rachel Whiting and Board members Fiona and Michael Karlin attended the World Parkinson's Day Conference in Kyoto, Japan this past month and took full advantage of the talks, poster exhibition, booths, classes and informal gatherings. The International Conference Center in Kyoto is a huge place, and there were many activities to choose from at all times of every day. The Conference also featured a video created by our Dancing Through Parkinson's participants and Teaching Artists, titled The Crane Dance. You can see the video here.

Invertigo's Executive Director, David Mack, appointed to the National Black Arts @ WAA committee

Western Arts Alliance is organizing Black Arts @ WAA a special thread for this year's annual conference in LA uplifting the performing arts of the Black Diaspora. The program will include a day-long pre-conference symposium in Leimert Park on August 25th, showcasing, an opening plenary event, and more. WAA's goal is to create an ongoing initiative similar to its other affinity groups, including: Conexiones, Advancing Indigenous Performance and 35Below.

To-date, the program has been overseen by a local committee of Black artists, arts administrators, and activists from Los Angeles. But Black Arts @ WAA could now benefit from a national perspective and WAA stakeholders. Mack has been selected to join the national committee and is honored to represent Invertigo on a national level in this prominent membership organization for regional presenters.
